COMPTROLLER SEAN SCANLON ANNOUNCES NEW DATA ON ARRAYRX ENROLLMENT AND USAGE

Prescription drug discount card puts money back in the pockets of CT residents

(HARTFORD, CT) – Comptroller Scanlon today announced new data on the ArrayRx prescription drug discount card enrollment and usage.

The announcement was made at Stoll’s Pharmacy, an independent pharmacy that has operated in Waterbury for more than 60 years, where the Comptroller was joined by Waterbury Mayor Paul Pernerewski, Representative Ron Napoli, Representative Bill Pizzuto, and Representative Geraldo Reyes.

“It’s no question that prescription drug prices are out of control,” said Comptroller Scanlon. “This card isn’t the be-all-end-all solution to the problem, but while we await the benefits of federal legislation—such as Medicare negotiating rug prices—the ArrayRx card is providing residents with some much needed relief today.”

Since the October 2, 2023 launch, more than 15,500 Connecticut residents have signed up, and more than 1,800 prescriptions have been filled. Of those prescriptions, ~87% have been generic and ~11% have been brand-name; the remaining ~1% accounts for non-drug items, such as diabetes test strips. The average saving per prescription has been $200.

Top 5 Prescriptions Filled by Count
Drug	Usage	Number filled
Atorvastatin Calcium	High cholesterol	31
Rosuvastatin Calcium	High cholesterol; stroke and heart attack prevention	24
Metoprolol Succinate Extended Release	High blood pressure, chest pain, and heart failure	24
Lisinopril	High blood pressure; heart failure	21
Levothyroxine Sodium	Hypothyroidism	17

“Savings at the pharmacy counter have ranged from a few dollars to hundreds, but the bottom line is that this card is putting money back in the pockets of Connecticut residents,” said Comptroller Scanlon.

Residents can learn more, see the estimated cost for their prescription, or find a pharmacy near them at ArrayRxCard.com (and in Spanish at ArrayRxCard.com/es).
